BURLINGAME TRAPPED BY POWERFUL ENEMIES, IS DEFENSE CONTENTION

Witnesses for the Captain Attack Credibility of Palmist Accuser.

POLICEMEN TESTIFY TO AID COMMANDER

Sergeant Backs Version of "Dream-Girl" Note Told by Officer.

LAWYER DECLARES FILES WERE LOOTED

Douthitt, Former Dry Agent, Praises Work of Accused Man in Enforcement.

Capt. Guy E. Burlingame, rated by his superiors as one of the most efficient policemen in the history of the city, was pictured to the extraordinary police trial board yesterday as the unsuspecting victim of powerful enemies, blindly stumbling into a trap because of his relentless pursuit of lawbreakers. That picture was impressed on the board by the testimony of several of the eighteen witnesses called by the defense. Others told various stories designed to break down the credibility of Mrs. Helen F. Blalock, former seventh street palmist, who says she was the unwilling but fearful "dream girl" of the suspended commander of the Second Police Precinct.

Files stolen from an attorney's office, an armed man who hunted a defense witness on a country road after midnight, and difficulties with real estate agents, attorneys, were told of by various witnesses.

Says Woman Used Typewriter.

Others were used had seen Mrs. Blalock using the typewriter in Burlingame's office in the Second Precinct Station on more than one occasion and frequently had seen her in the station, seeking the captain.

Evidence of former Representative Tom Blanton's active interest in the woman's affairs were got into the record by the defense again, including a repetition of his ride through the city on the front seat of a motor truck beside the colored expressman who he had employed to move Mrs. Blalock's furniture.

Another witness, a colored woman, cast Mrs. Blalock in the role of a fortune teller endowed with professed abilities to "take off hats" cast by an enemy, and William E. Leahy, defense attorney, made much of statements that Mrs. Blalock told the fortunes of colored men, despite her statements on the witness stand, earlier in the trial, that she confined her fortune telling to colored women.

Policemen Support Captain. The policemen Walter L. Fowler, assistant corporation counsel, sarcastically agreed could be produced to support Burlingame's story of his relations with Mrs. Blalock were called before the board by the defense and backed up their captain's story. They refused to be shaken in any important detail by Fowler's cross-examination. Fowler seemed to undertake their cross-examination as a matter of form rather than with an air of expectation.

Policeman Charles D. Poole, of the Second Precinct, swore that he had seen Mrs. Blalock seated at a typewriter in Burlingame's office writing on two occasions and had seen her in the station on four or five occasions. He told the same story that Burlingame had told about raising parties and how Burlingame would drive to the vicinity of Mrs. Blalock's residence and get additional type and start out again.

Describes Writing of Letters. Sgt. J. M. Roper, of the Second Precinct, also backed up his commander's story. He said he had been summoned to Mrs. Blalock's home one night when she reported an attempted burglary, but had found nothing and had been asked to keep her valuable papers and jewelry in the station house, but he refused because he did not know the combination of the station safe.

Once, he said, he had entered the captain's office to find Burlingame and Mrs. Blalock seated at the small typewriter desk and Burlingame had said to him, "Miss Helen has a lady broadcasting that she has taken her sweetest away from her and we're writing some love letters to prove it is not so."

Harry N. Douthitt, at present owner of the Arlington County, Va., Chronicle and former secretary of the Citizens Service Association, which was formed to develop an army of informers among private citizens, outdid the policemen in praising Burlingame's efficiency.

Dry Agent Praises Officer. Members of this "law enforcement" organization, Douthitt testified, liked Burlingame because he never bothered with observing the provisions of law requiring search warrants before private homes were broken into.

Douthitt said he spent most of his time in the Second Precinct when he was secretary of the law enforcement association, "because we could always get more action in No. 2 than in any Standard Oil Man Goes Out of Office With Record Cheered.

Mr. Stewart went down to a defeat even more decisive than had been predicted by the Rockefeller group, which had demanded his resignation because of alleged "moral unfitness," but he left the annual stockholders meeting with the plaudits of the record gathering ringing in his ears.

The position of chairman, from which Col. Stewart was ousted by more than 2,800,000 votes, was abandoned by the new board of directors which met immediately after being elected.

GAMBLER CHARGED WITH WALSH DEATH

Rothstein Aid's Slaying in Miami Laid to War of "Pay-Off" Men.

LONG MARKED BY GUNMEN

Miami, Fla., March 7 (A.P.).—A warrant charging first-degree murder was issued tonight for Ed Wilson, alleged gambler, of New York, Chicago and Miami, charging him with the murder of Thomas ("Fatty") Walsh, who was shot and killed in a suite of rooms in a Coral Gables hotel this morning.

The warrant was issued on affidavit filed by Sheriff M. P. Lehman and Richard H. Hunt, assistant State's attorney, after they had questioned more than 20 witnesses during the day. They reported the witnesses indicated the shooting followed an altercation between Walsh and Wilson.

Walsh met death early today in a suite of rooms in a fashionable hotel of Coral Gables, Miami suburb, in much the same manner as his former employer in New York a few months ago. The killer also wounded Arthur Clark, Walsh's companion, and escaped. Telegrams to New York confirmed police opinion here that the gun play was an aftermath of the Rothstein murder, and within a few hours six men were in custody, including the wounded Clark, who said New York police could throw light on the Walsh killing.

Clark's only enlargement of that statement was a remark that he was not the killer of Rothstein, and that he did not recognize the man who entered the hotel suite and shot Walsh while several bridge games were in progress. He intimated that he believed his own wound was accidental. The other five in custody were E. E. Gaylord, in whose name the suite was taken recently; W. L. Bowen, suspected driver of a car which took Clark to a hospital; Charles Kasey, who recently was arrested on charges of operating a gambling house in a Miami hotel and released on bond posted by Gaylord; J. H. Parbo, whose connections were unknown to police; M. Kasser, reputed professional gambler, and Bert Griffith, Miami Beach. All maintained silence.

Operating on several theories involving gaming arrangements, police announced that their most likely clues indicated that Walsh was killed in a war among "pay-off men" in a gambling ring in that connection they sought Wilson, reputed employer of Gaylord.

Meanwhile Frank McNamara, manager of the Miami Biltmore, said he

President Specifies Farm and Tariff Relief in Proclamation.

Vandenberg Predicts Bill Will Be Put Through by Big Vote.

PROHIBITION ASSURED OF VIGOROUS DEBATE

New Chief Executive Has Busy Day; 800 Greet Him During Public Reception.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover cleared the way yesterday for the solution of two of the three most pressing problems before his administration by calling the Seventy-first Congress into extraordinary session on April 15, to consider further farm relief and limited tariff revision legislation.

He also gave further consideration to the appointment of the national commission which is to take up the third and perhaps gravest problem—general law enforcement with particular reference to the prohibition amendment and the abuses which have grown up around its operation.

These were only a few of many questions which came before the Chief Executive in what proved to be, by far, the busiest day he has had since his inauguration on Monday. He was able to keep his first hour clear for reading his mail and other work, but after that there was just one conference after another with senators, representatives and party leaders generally.

Holds Public Reception.

There was the usual break at the noon hour while the Chief Executive received the cadets of the young Australian League who are touring this country and shook hands with more than 800 visitors who passed through his office at the third successive public reception he has held.

While the President mentioned only farm relief and tariff revision in his proclamation, the special session of the new Congress can be not be limited to a consideration of these subjects. In fact, the Chief Executive can place no limitation upon its action, his authority ending with the issuing of the call and the submission of special message outlining his views on the subjects he would have considered.

After a talk with Mr. Hoover, Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, predicted that the Senate would act first upon the resolution authorizing the 1930 census and providing for the reapportionment of the membership of the House of Representatives on a basis of that census.

Will Back Reapportionment. "The Republican membership of both the Senate and the House will be 100 per cent behind that measure," the senator said.

It may be that the national origin provision of the Immigration law may be further considered at the extra session. President Hoover has declared in favor of retention of the principle of the 1890 census as the basis for immigration quotas, but unless there is action by Congress it is held by many that the national origin clause would come into force on July 1 under the present law after the issuing of the new act.

Power, Glory Died With Son, Coolidge Writes in Article

Passing of Calvin, Jr., Robbed Presidency of Value, Says First Story to Be Published in Magazine; Series to Tell Experiences During Years in White House.

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—The most important private citizen of the United States appeared before the Nation as a writer today, three days after he retired from the White House to No. 21 Massachusetts street, Northampton, Mass.

The first of a series of articles on his career and his life in the White House by Calvin Coolidge appears in the March number of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, which went on sale today. Mr. Coolidge is also under contract to write articles for the American Magazine and for the Ladies' Home Journal.

At 10 o'clock one Saturday morning about six weeks ago, Ray Long, editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, was ushered into President Coolidge's office in Washington. The President handed him a sheet of papers.

"I've got something done," he said. "I don't know how good it is, but anyway it's here."

That "something" was Mr. Coolidge's story of his years in the White House. The outstanding passage in the in-

20 Injured and $100,000 Damage Toll of 45-Mile Gale in Capital

Houses Unroofed, Trees Uprooted as Storm Rages Over City.

Wind-battered Washington early this morning nursed its bruises and took account of the damage caused by the 45-mile-an-hour gale which raged across the Eastern seaboard yesterday and last night.

In the city proper, more than a score of persons had been treated in hospitals, at least one man was seriously injured, more than 200 school children had been driven from their portable buildings, more than $100,000 of damage had been caused to property, and several families were living under improvised roofs. Against this background stood the promise of the Weather Bureau that the winds would abate before this morning and that the weather would grow warmer as the day progressed.

In nearby Virginia and Maryland, conditions were equally bad. Uprooted trees halted traffic, telephone wires were down in dozens of places, signboards were flung across the highways, and electric lighting and power service was interrupted. Buildings were blown down at Oakland, Md.; Silver Spring, Md., and electric service in Upper Marlboro, Md., was interrupted when a tree fell across power lines.

The Washington Fire Department answered more calls than at any time since March 26, 1926. The three-year record between 8 o'clock yesterday morning and 11 o'clock last night included 39 calls of every description, from brush fires to collapsed roofs.

At the Grand road and Tunlaw road schools, both caring for children under 12 years of age, the roofs were damaged by the high winds. No children were injured, due largely to the coolness with which the emergencies were handled by school personnel.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. reported damage to its lines and equipment totaling $75,000 in nearby Virginia and Maryland.

One man, Henry G. Kling, 35 years old, of 3542 Hertford place northwest, suffered a fracture of the skull when a heavy iron concrete mold was blown off the fifth floor of the new Southern Railway Building, at Fifteenth and K streets northwest, striking him on the head. He was a sheet metal worker.

LATE WINTER STORM RESULTS IN 3 DEATHS

East and Midwest Are Struck by Gale and Snow as Mercury Drops.

WIND FANS $500,000 FIRE

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—A dying winter took on a new lease of life today and went on the rampage over some of the Northeastern States and eastern Canada, causing at least three deaths, scores of injuries and serious damage to property.

A 60-mile gale drove the inbound Lampont & Holt liner Van Dyck, slaver ship of the West Vestrals, aground on Governors Island, in upper New York Bay, but several hours later the vessel was hauled off the mud by ten tugs and docked with her 245 passengers from South America.

The gale swept throughout New York City, blowing a 15-foot smokestack from the top of the 15-story Claridge Hotel in Times Square, and ripping a section of sheet iron from the roof of the Long Island Railroad freight station in Brooklyn. The falling metal fractured one woman's skull, although in the collapse of the hotel chimney no one was injured.

In New York and other cities the gale swept persons off their feet, many of them being injured, and in three places fatalities occurred.

The storm toppled over a huge crane at the Bethlehem Steel plant at Coatesville, Pa. One man was killed and the operator of the crane was badly hurt. The wind also caused the collapse of a large two-story building housing a wholesale supply company at Coatesville.

Near London, Ontario, a railroad sectionman was fatally injured when struck by a train as he was patrolling the track in a snowstorm, and at Goderich a man was blown from a roof and killed.

Three persons were injured near Buffalo when the driver of a bus bound east from Chicago became blinded by snow and his machine collided with three trucks. Fifty men escaped injury from falling masonry as the roof of a four-story Buffalo lodging house was blown off and a brick chimney collapsed.

Damage was severe along Lake Erie. Vessels at Port Colborne, Ont., were damaged and steamers were set adrift at Buffalo.

Forty feet of copper cornice was wrenched off a church in Philadelphia, and an apartment house was unroofed at Boyertown, Pa.

In many places telegraph and telephone communication was interrupted and electric service damaged. Scores

HOOVER IS CONSULTED ON GUNS IN EL PASO

Kellogg Objects to Menace to Mexicans; Troops May Be Withdrawn.

FEAR DIPLOMATIC CLASH

(United Press.)

State Department objections to movement of American troops to the international boundary at El Paso resulted last night in hasty conferences between President Hoover, cabinet officers and Gen. Charles F. Summerall, chief of staff. A battle between Mexican federalists and rebels was reported occurring five miles beyond the boundary.

It was understood on good authority that Brig. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, commanding the First Cavalry division at El Paso, would be ordered to withdraw his troops to their stations as soon as opportunity permitted and not to fire into Mexican territory.

Secretary of State Kellogg learned from United Press dispatches that armored cars had been sent to the international bridge and that artillery was drawn up, with gun muzzles pointed toward Mexico. These movements were undertaken, the United Press learned, without consultation with the State Department or the War Department.

The action was interpreted in high quarters as unfavorable to international relations, although under existing circumstances it was not believed the Mexican government would make a diplomatic issue of the incident.

Secretary Kellogg discussed the matter with Secretary of War Good for half an hour and the latter, with Summerall, then conferred with the President at the White House. Good later visited Kellogg's office. None of the officials would comment on the exchanges of opinion.

During the cabinet conferences it was learned that an application was received yesterday from a private arms

FEDERALS IN PURSUIT OF GEN. J. M. AGUIRRE

Government Gaining in East as Insurgents Conquer West Coast Cities.

(Associated Press.)

Federal successes seemed to predominate in the struggle for control of Mexico yesterday, although the confused situation left the details in some doubt. The rebels had been vanquished and scattered in Vera Cruz and federal arms had carried the day in the north-east.

The rebels extended their ground, almost unopposed, down the west coast through the state of Sinaloa and at night the battle of their gun-fire in an attack on Juarez could be heard across the border at El Paso.

The federal government admitted that the insurgents had taken a strong and threatening position at Torreon, in western Coahuila, where forces under Gen. Gonzalo Escobar and Francisco Albarello had united.

The retaking of the City of Vera Cruz and the flight of Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre removed the nearest threat against Mexico City, although rebel leaders in the north said that a campaign against the capital was about to begin from three directions. President Porter and his supporters maintained their confidence that the future held only victory, and additional evidence of their confidence was seen in the lifting of the censorship imposed last Sunday.

Washington Is Optimistic.

Washington appeared to share the belief of Mexico City and apprehension was lessened for American property and lives, except along the northern border. Washington declined to confirm a well-founded report of arms shipments to the "federal" and denied permission had been sought for Mexican troop movements on American soil.

The Federal Government moved to restore communications in Remon territory and to clear the way for American tourists to leave.

El Paso, Tex., March 7 (A.P.).—Relegated by the rumbling waves of revolt, Juarez, spectacular frontier city of the Mexican border, tonight was in battle front, with the forces of the Porfirio Gil government of Mexico and revolutionary elements fighting for the prize almost within a stone's throw of the Rio Grande.

Under the sinister gaze of two French towers, mounted near the international bridge in El Paso, merely as a word of warning from the United States Government, Juarez was in a state of confusion as the result was awaited of the battle which has continued intermittently at its southern outskirts since 1 o'clock today.

Hospital Is Prepared.

Preparations to receive the wounded were made late this afternoon when Gen. Matias Ramos, chief of federal military operations in Chihuahua, commanded the Hotel Rio Bravo and immediately converted it into a hospital. Medical equipment from other institutions was rushed to the hotel and here were mobilized the Mexican Blue Cross nurses.

Americans in Juarez strained over the one road to El Paso in great numbers today. The narrow street became choked before noon by refugees when a stray shot fired somewhere in Juarez flamed the rumors that the city had been attacked. Automobiles by the

WOMEN OF HOUSE ARE HONOR GUESTS

Mrs. Owen Stresses Need of Women in Peace and War Parleys.

POLITICS IS CALLED DUTY

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—The need for women in every council of government that settles questions of war and peace was emphasized today by Mrs. Ruth Owen, representative-elect from Florida and daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan.

She was among the honor guests at a testimonial luncheon given by the League for Political Education, the women members of Congress in anticipation of their entrance into the seventy-first session of the House of Representatives.

Representatives Ruth Baker Pratt, Edith Nourse Rogers, Florence P. Kahn, Mary Teresa Norton and Katherine Langley were also among the honor guests who spoke.

"Women's place is in the home, but the walls of the home have widened since a few years ago to include the scope of politics," said Mrs. Owen. "And women should be able to help the Nation find some way to settle quarrels that does not involve throwing the bodies of men into the balance."

The elimination of sex consciousness and the personal equation from the point of view of Congresswomen was urged by Mrs. Kahn, representative from California. "Each of us enters the House of Representatives as a congressman," said Mrs. Kahn. "We stand on our own feet and speak for our own people."

George W. Wickham, former United States Attorney General, presided at the luncheon. Mrs. Ruth McCormick, of Illinois, and Mrs. William O. Perkins, of Arkansas, were unable to attend.

Greeting from Lady Nancy Astor, one of the eight women members of the British Parliament, and from governors of sixteen States were read.

St. Godard, in Blizzard, Wins Pas Dog Derby

The Pas, Manitoba, March 7 (A.P.).—Emil St. Godard, a powerful musher, was recovering today from a battle through a blizzard to win the Pas dog derby.

St. Godard stumbled about the finish line at 11:09 p. m. last night, completing the 200-mile nonstop mush to Ft. Flin Flou and return in 36 hours and 59 minutes.

His brother, Hector, finished fourth, half a minute behind him. Gabriel Campbell was third, finishing at 11:54. His brother, Hector, finished fourth, half a minute behind him.

Slayer of Actress Is Doomed to Chair

Edel Is Found Guilty by New York Jury After Four-Hour Debate.

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—Frederick W. Edel today was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Emeline O. Harrington, actress, in her Washington Heights apartment in December, 1927. The jury deliberated about four and a half hours before it reported Edel guilty of murder in the first degree.

Death in the electric chair is the penalty for first degree murder. Edel will be sentenced March 14.

The State conducted the trial, that Edel had robbed the woman of personal belongings and subsequently gave them to other women acquaintances in Springfield.

Discovery of a blood-stained hammer and some personal articles of Mrs. Harrington in a hotel room Edel had occupied in New Haven started a police search that resulted in his arrest in St. Paul, Minn., where he had been arrested last April on charges of postal fraud.

Army Dirigible TC-5 Returns to Lakehurst

Lakehurst, N. J., March 7 (A.P.).—The dirigible Army dirigible TC-5 returned from Washington to its hangar today. Capt. William Flood was in charge of the ship and there were three passengers aboard.

The TC-5, with the J-3 and J-4, took part in the parade of lighter-than-air craft at the inauguration of President Hoover. The two J-3 ships were delayed at Anacostia during the recent storm and will be shipped here.

The TC-5 rode out the storm and visited Aberdeen, Md., before returning here.

GALE SWEEPS EAST; THREE PERSONS DIE

St. Louis, March 7 (A.P.).—Riding on the crest of a destructive west wind, winter made a brief sojourn on the Midwest last night and early today, causing several hundred thousand dollars of property loss and personal injuries.

Subzero temperatures prevailed over many sections of the Northwest, but tonight they were moderating.

More than ten persons were injured, most of them in Chicago, while most of the property damage was caused at Tomahawk, Wis., where the wind ripped a tree through the business section, causing a loss estimated at $500,000. Considerable damage was caused in other parts of Wisconsin and the upper Michigan Peninsula, where the wind was accompanied by snow and later rain, which halted travel and communication.

Little hope was held tonight for two men and a woman, who were caught in the gale while riding in a small fishing boat on Lake Michigan. The 38-foot boat left Kenosha, Wis., yesterday, carrying Mr. and Mrs. Hans Nielsen and Nielsen's young brother, but despite all-day efforts of the Coast Guard, which used cutters and an airplane, nothing has been seen or heard of them.

Two Seamen in Submarine Sunk 200 Feet, Rise in Test

Experiment Off Key West Is First to Be Made at Such Great Depth; Previous Escape Is Made From 160 Feet; Oxygen Masks Used.

Aboard U. S. S. Mallard, off Key West, Fla., March 7 (A.P.).—From a depth of 200 feet, Lieut. C. B. Momm and Chief Torpedoman Edward Kalinowski successfully escaped from the submarine S-4 late today. It was the first time a man has ever been submerged to that depth outside a vessel and lived. Naval officers here said they believed, they escaped by means of the safety device being tested out in these waters.

Previously during the afternoon the men had emerged from the S-4 from a depth of 160 feet and the worse from their experience.

Then the S-4 was towed to a depth of 200 feet, and the S-4 crew began to lower away.

Nine minutes passed. Then alongside the bobbing buoy showed the men's heads. They were taken to the surface by masks which made the tests possible.

One of the divers was pulled aboard a small boat as a cheer rose over the Gulf Stream. Then, in another few minutes, the second diver poked his head above the surface and grinned broadly.

The men took considerably longer than their natural ascent would have been as a precaution against divers' cramp, or bends. At intervals along the line to which the buoy marker was attached they stopped for readjustment.

Despite the fact that they had been subjected to the greatest water pressure a man has ever experienced, excepting in specially made diving suits, the men suffered no ill effects.

Lieut. Comdr. P. H. Dunbar, who has been in charge of operations during the tests, declared that the apparatus was a great success for practically any depth. Today's tests concluded the experiments in these waters.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY GALE IN CAPITAL; 20 PERSONS HURT

The cut tendon sewed, but it will be several months before he can walk again, hospital physicians said.

The powerful blasts played havoc with windows and street lamp globes in every section of the city. The Potomac Electric Power Co. reported 280 street lamps completely blown away and 15 trees fallen over wires, and 11 wires out of service.

At the Capitol a skylight in the Senate chamber was loosened, falling on the desk of Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming.

Plate glass windows were broken in several stores as were many windows in apartments and residences. A large plate glass window in the National Press Club Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest, was blown from its frame, shattering into two automobile parked nearby.

Show Window Crashes.

A show window on the ground floor of the Park Lane Apartments, Twenty-first street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, was blown in, as was a window in the H. A. McLaughlin drug store on the ground floor of the National Press Club Building, Fifteenth and F streets northwest.

Broken glass was sent flying through the street when a show window at the Quality Shop, 529 Fourteenth street northwest, gave way. No one was injured, although an unidentified passerby had a narrow escape when the window, reported to be 15 feet wide and 10 feet high, splintered and crashed to the pavement.

Two sections about 15 feet wide and 10 feet high, splintered and crashed to the pavement. Two persons were injured, one of whom was a child. The child was taken to the hospital and is recovering.

One of the heaviest sufferers was the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Although local service was maintained, due to underground cables, long distance communications were momentarily disrupted. The company reported 2,000 telephones out of commission in Maryland and 1,000 out of operation in Virginia, 260 long distance wires out, and 600 poles down.

Flying Fields Escape.

The flying fields near the city escaped comparatively easy, despite the great danger of high winds to flying craft. At the Anacostia Naval Air Station, two obsolete planes, which were ready to be scrapped and which had not been placed in hangars, were smashed. A commercial plane flown here by Charles Emerson, of Boston, for the inauguration, was damaged at Hoover Field. No damage was reported from other air bases.

Credit for the escape of many of the children from the Grant portable school without injury was due largely to the efforts of Louise Bond, colored janitress, and Simon Sherman, 12 years old, 4801 Connecticut avenue, and Martin A. Givens, 10 years old, 3818 Harrison street. Both members of the school boy patrol.

The janitress, who was standing in the building when the roof was carried away, ordered the children out, calling on the two boys for assistance. Miss M. E. Givens, principal, was summoned and immediately dismissed the school for the day.

Twenty-six Children Saved.

In the school on Fourteenth street and Tunlaw road 26 children in the class of Mrs. E. B. Robinson were taken to safety. All portable schools were dismissed shortly after noon.

Despite the high winds was promised today by Weather Bureau forecasters, who also predicted a fall in temperature to 20 degrees by morning. Although the highest average wind velocity during the day was 45 miles an hour, it was said that it rose considerably higher in gusts. A wind of 62 miles an hour was registered on the wind gauge at Hoover Field.

The District Chapter of the American Red Cross responded promptly to a call for help from people in the Southeast section whose homes were uninhabitable. Gen. John A. Johnson, acting chairman of the chapter, secured tarpaulins from the War Department, which were placed over the houses as temporary roofs.

Glass Injures Woman.

Flying glass from a destructive light post blown down on the east side of Thomas Circle at Massachusetts avenue, struck Mrs. Anna E. Elliott, of 1013 M street northwest. Mrs. Elliott, an elderly woman, was taken to Emergency Hospital and treated by Dr. Gordon for a lacerated scalp. Five stitches had to be taken.

Mack Forrester, 23 years old, of 2153 K street northwest, had the toes of one foot broken when the wind blew shut an iron cellar door, which fell on his foot yesterday morning. Hallick Charity, 25 years old, of 3810 Twelfth street northwest, was on the head by a falling electric light dome and received a deep gash in the leg and a cut tendon, at Thirteenth and R streets northwest. William Willey, colored, 45 years old, of 525 G street southwest, was cut on the back of his head when a large maple tree fell across his way to work at Fifteenth and Swann streets northwest. All were treated at Emergency Hospital by Dr. Leonard Gordon. Charity was operated upon and

FARM RELIEF VIEWS INVITED BY HAUGEN

Agricultural Committee Head Announces Hearings for 14 Days Before Session.

PLAN ENTIRELY NEW BILL

(United Press.)

Fifteen hundred invitations to participate in hearings to be held by the House agricultural committee on farm relief legislation were sent out yesterday by Chairman Haugen (Republican, Iowa, of the committee).

Haugen announced the hearings would be started nineteen days before the special session of Congress convenes, which would be the last of this month, as President Hoover has called the extra session April 15.

Stearns will be concluded in fourteen days, and five days more will be utilized for drafting the bill. President Hoover will confer with committee members from time to time to give his views on the legislation.

Farm organizations and others interested in the bill will be unable to send representatives to the hearings, which were to be held in the House chamber, as the committee members said the new bill will be drafted with "an open mind" and undoubtedly many suggestions advanced during the hearings would be incorporated.

Neither the old McNary-Haugen bill, which was vetoed by President Coolidge, nor the McNary bill, which was introduced in the Senate during the last session of Congress, will be used as models for the new legislation.

Many features of the two old measures, however, probably will be inserted in the new bill, including a Federal farm board to advise farmers and a $300,000,000, or more, revolving fund.

Meanwhile the various Republican subcommittees of the House ways and means committee were in session drafting the different schedules of the new tariff act.

Moses Guards Trio.

Strangely enough, Creager sent the trio up in the care of Senator George H. Moses. The trio was in the Waldorf tower in New York during the campaign to correspond with Hoover Democrats over the broad confines of the country. Creager himself came along later and after leaving Mr. Hoover took a fling at Senator Brookhart, whose patronage investigating committee had been trying into his political affairs.

Republican affairs in Texas will continue as they have in the past, said Creager defiantly, "notwithstanding Senator Brookhart, and I wish you would quote me on that."

Representative J. W. Taylor, of Tennessee, called at the White House and entered a candidate for the Solicitor Generalship, a place now interesting a large field of aspirants.

Major James A. Fowler, of Knoxville, Fowler served as an Assistant Attorney General under Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and part of the time under Coolidge.

Thad Brown, of Ohio, prominent Republican, also called on the President for Assistant Secretary of War. He is no relation to Postmaster General Walter Brown.

$15,000 Damages Asked In Suit on Bus Collision

Suit to collect $15,000 damages from R. L. May, trading as the Alexandria-Barron-Washington Rapid Transit Co. of Alexandria, Va., was filed by William McClellan, of 614 D street southwest, yesterday in the District Supreme Court on charges of personal injury.

McClellan complained he was riding in an automobile on the Alexandria pike near South Washington, Va., on last January 24, when the vehicle was struck by a bus of the defendant. Charging the collision occurred from negligence on the part of the bus driver, McClellan declared he suffered several broken ribs, injuries to his back, legs and internal organs. Attorney James F. Bird appeared for the plaintiff.

HOOPER ISSUES CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Official information was given that the President had not sought an opinion from Attorney General Mitchell as to whether the issuing of this proclamation was mandatory under the law.

At the same time it was stated that no opinion had been sought as to whether the Chief Executive had the authority to transfer the prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department by Executive order.

Should legislative action for this transfer be necessary, as many hold it is, this might well form the subject for action at the special session, as the President stated clearly in his inaugural address that this transfer should be made while the national commission was conducting its investigation and formulating its recommendations.

Several Names Suggested.

Speculation over the personnel of the commission continued today. Some names suggested were those of Julius Rosenberg, of Chicago; former Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania; former Attorney General John G. Sargent, of Vermont; and Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, Secretary of War in the Wilson administration.

There was no information that these names had been considered by the President, but it was suggested that all four of the men were well qualified for the proposed task. Mr. Baker has made a long and intensive study of crime in this country; Senator Pepper headed the Senate committee on the reorganization of the Federal statutes, and the other three men have wide experience, the one in social work and the other in the actual enforcement of the prohibition law.

Text of Proclamation.

The proclamation, the first to be issued by the new Chief Executive, reads:

"By the President of the United States of America, a proclamation: Whereas, the public interests require that the Congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock noon on the 15th day of April, 1929, to receive such communication as may be made by the Executive; and whereas legislation to effect further agricultural relief and legislation for limited changes of the tariff can not in justice to our farmers, our labor, and our manufacturers be postponed;

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the Congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the Capitol in the City of Washington on the 15th day of April, 1929, at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof are hereby required to take notice.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

"Done at the City of Washington this 7th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the United States the one hundred and fifty-third.

"By the President, "FRANK B. KELLOGG, Secretary of State."

NO EVIDENCE OF VIOLENCE

New York, March 7 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The skeleton of a young woman, apparently dead more than a year, was found today on the grounds of the summer home of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., about 100 yards off North Hempstead turnpike, between Manhasset and Roslyn, Long Island.

Clinging to the bones were remnants of clothing consisting of a light blue checked dress, pink corset and black silk stockings. On the ground nearby the skull was a pair of wing-shaped earrings marked "14-carat gold," the wings engraved like the facets of diamonds.

The bones of the feet were encased in black pumps, with five straps fastened to five blue buttons. A few feet away from the skull was a blue straw toque hat.

The skeleton lay face upward, with the arms extended. On the skull was a small tuft of dark brown curly hair. The teeth are small and in perfect condition. The victim of either suicide or murder appeared to have been about 5 feet 3 inches in height. There were no marks of violence in the skull or bones.

The growsome find was made by Joseph Randazza, telephone lineman, who was at work in the vicinity of the Vanderbilt place. He saw a rabbit run through the bushes and, curious to see where it went, peered into a tall clump of bushes and discovered the skeleton, half-covered by dead leaves.

Randazza told Nassau County police, Sgt. Emil Morse, of the homicide squad, is checking up his list of missing women in an effort to ascertain whether the skeleton is that of a missing Long Islander.

STEWART'S OUSTING LAUDED BY NORRIS

Act Vindication of Decency,
Declares Senator; Nye
Also Is Pleased.

WALSH HAS NO COMMENT

(Associated Press.)
The ousting yesterday of Robert W. Stewart from the chairmanship of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana's board of directors was gratifying to Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, the author of the resolution initiating the inquiry into the oil industry which led to Stewart's ousting. "I am glad to see that American business is not willing to put up with men like Stewart. I consider the defeat of Stewart a vindication of the Senate committee and of good government," he said.

The result of the company's stockholders' vote was characterized as "most pleasing" by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, chairman of the Senate public lands committee, which questioned Stewart in connection with the Continental Trading Co.'s oil profits in the Teapot Dome lease. The refusal to answer these questions led to Stewart's fall.

"The result is indicative," said Senator Nye, "of another very large accomplishment through the investigations conducted by the Senate. These investigations, in addition to returning to the Government large sums of money and property, have seemingly awakened a new sense of decency in the oil industry which dictates the necessity of a clean-up within the industry itself. It is to enjoy any measure of the confidence of the people and Government."

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, prosecutor of the Senate lands committee, preferred to make no comment on the ousting of Stewart.

Filipino Named to Fight Trade Law Restrictions

Manila, March 7 (A.P.).—Acting Gov. Gen. Eugene A. Gilmore today announced that Rafael Alunan, secretary of agriculture and natural resources, has been selected to go to the United States as the representative of the executive branch of the Philippine government in opposing legislation considered detrimental to the island trade.

The political angle will be handled by an executive mission, composed of Senators Manuel Quezon, Sergio Osmeña and Representative Manuel Roxas. Permission has been granted to Rafael Corpu, president of the Philippine National Bank, to go to the United States as a representative of the sugar interests.

Presbyterians Make New Move for Union

Philadelphia, March 7 (A.P.).—The Department of Church Cooperation and Union of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America met in executive sessions today, reviewed its recent conference, with representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church and prepared plans for a conference at Richmond, Va., tomorrow with representatives of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

These conferences with other denominations, it was stated, are in connection with proposals for organic union of the denominations concerned.

COL. STEWART, OUSTED BY VOTES OF ROCKEFELLERS, IS PRAISED

over the duties of Col. Stewart, whose successor on the board is William M. Burton, former president of the concern.

The new board of eleven has three trustees, Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago; Gentry Cash, manager of the Whiting Refinery; and Thomas S. Cooke, former superintendent of the Whiting plant and now a vice president of the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Corporation.

The dates presented by the Rockefeller faction and the Stewart supporters were identical with the exception of Col. Stewart. Traylor, who was elected to the new board of directors, was one of three men who reported that "light-fingered gentry" relieved them of their wallets as they mingled with the mixed crowd of shareholders.

Traylor declined to state how much he had lost. Arthur B. Ayres, wealthy New Castle, Ind., man, reported pickpockets took $200 from him and Roscoe Cray, wool broker, who lives in Chicago, reported his purse and $25 were taken.

Ballot Count Completed.
The forces of decency, representing both sides, which had been working day and night, had all the proxies checked in by the time the meeting opened, and the counting of ballots was done in short order. The board of election inspectors reported that a total of 8,446,120 votes had been cast. Of these, 8,174,010 were represented in person and 7,628,710 by proxies.

When Col. Stewart completed reading of the company's annual financial statement, which showed net earnings for 1928, without allowance for taxes, as $83,437,156, an increase over the preceding year of $50,229,710, the cheers and applause were deafening. The crowd rose to its feet whistling and stamping its feet, continuing for some minutes, while the colonel stood with flushed face.

"It would be idle for me to say that I leave the Standard Oil Co. without regret," he said in a statement following the balloting. "For years its welfare has been my deepest concern. Its affairs have been my very life. I have seen it grow under the present administration from a 167,000,000 corporation with 4,620 stockholders to practically a billion-dollar corporation with 56,293 stockholders."

Individuals Favor Stewart.
"One can not dissociate himself from such an intimacy without a wrench," Col. Stewart said with no small sense of pride or gratitude that he thanked the 7,901 of the 7,918 employee stockholders who voted for him and the 31,857 stockholders of the company who executed proxies in his favor or voted personally for him.

The final check showed that 15,204 gave proxies to the Rockefeller group, the big margin in favor of John D. Jr., being due to the large blocks of stock represented.

The fight against Stewart had been carried on throughout the Nation by Mr. Aldrich and the law firm represented by Charles Evans Hughes, former Supreme Court Justice, while John D. Jr., traveled in Egypt and the Holy Land.

Company Not Affected.
Rockefeller demanded Stewart's resignation, he said, because Stewart's con-

Pickpockets Rob Three In Standard Oil Session

Whiting, Ind., March 7 (A.P.).—The "moral issue" involved in the annual stockholders' meeting of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, here today, held no terrors for the pickpockets.

Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, who was elected to the new board of directors, was one of three men who reported that "light-fingered gentry" relieved them of their wallets as they mingled with the mixed crowd of shareholders.

Traylor declined to state how much he had lost. Arthur B. Ayres, wealthy New Castle, Ind., man, reported pickpockets took $200 from him and Roscoe Cray, wool broker, who lives in Chicago, reported his purse and $25 were taken.

In connection with the Continental Trading Co. in the Teapot Dome oil case had, in his opinion, made him "morally unfit" to continue as the chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

The fight was the first of its kind in industrial history in which the fight for control of a billion-dollar corporation was based on moral fitness of its chief executive.

"Neither the dispute that has just closed nor anything else must be permitted to stand in the way of the future development of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana," President Seibert said. "The interests of too many people are involved for that—the interests of more than 56,000 stockholders, the interests of more than 35,000 employees whose earning power and therefore whose standard of living and happy home life are dependent upon the continued success of the company and the interest of the millions of customers whom this company has served for so long."

"I can say for the board of directors that in administering its affairs the interests of all three—stockholders, employees and customers—will be given equal and fair consideration."

Colonel Admits Defeat.
The stockholders' meeting, preceding the balloting, developed heated debate from representatives of widely separated parts of the country. The first of the fireworks started when J. P. Hays, of Chicago, made a motion to elect two directors who were not employees of the company, one having 500 or more shares and the other less than 500.

Col. Stewart at this juncture made his first admission of defeat since he openly defied the son of the world's richest man. A vote of acclamation had been taken and the noes seemed to balance the ayes.

Looking at the Rockefeller faction, which had been opposing the motion because it had not been submitted to the stockholders prior to the meeting, he said:

"The noes seem to have it," emphasizing the word seem.

PLANE PRODUCTION RISES 140 PER CENT

1928 Valuation Is Set at
$75,000,000; Wichita
Leads in Numbers.

5,000 AIRCRAFT ARE BUILT

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—Aircraft Yearbook figures released today by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America show an increase of 140 per cent in commercial aircraft production in 1928.

Approximately 5,000 planes and 3,500 aircraft motors were built in the United States last year, with a valuation of more than $75,000,000.

Of these 3,780 were commercial ships and 2,087 were commercial motors, the rest being for military use.

In the commercial field biplanes outnumbered monoplanes 2 to 1, but the valuation of the monoplanes was greater. This is explained by the increasing use of biplanes for small open-cockpit ships and of monoplanes for larger cabin jobs.

The figures place Wichita, Kans., in the lead for production with 927 planes built during the year. New York is second with 857 planes, but the value of the New York ships was more than twice that of the Wichita output, there being many more large planes.

In the number of planes built Ohio was the third State with 816. Missouri fourth with 736, Colorado fifth with 341, Illinois sixth with 248, Michigan seventh with 181, and California eighth with 140.

The estimated gross value of aircraft built in various States follows: New York, $6,000,000; Missouri, $3,500,000; Kansas and Michigan, $3,000,000 each; Ohio, $2,500,000; California, $1,500,000; Colorado, $750,000; and Illinois, $500,000.

New Jersey and Connecticut led in engine production, with Michigan, New York and California following in that order.

Production in 1928 is contrasted in the chamber of commerce statement with that in 1921, the industry's slump year, when not one commercial ship was built and military production fell to 302. In 1927 there were 1,565 commercial planes built.

The chamber expresses the opinion that there will never be one great aircraft center in the country like that in the automobile field. The reason for this, it says, is the rivalry of cities ambitious to be known as aviation centers, resulting in attractive offers to manufacturers from many parts of the country. Among cities competing for recognition as centers for aircraft production or operation the chamber names Boston, Bridgeport, New York, Baltimore, Miami, Scranton, Pittsburgh, Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and Seattle.

Cries of "standing vote, standing vote" came from the floor, but the colonel shook his head rather sadly. "No, my friends, if we vote it will have to be by shares and I am afraid the noes are in great majority," he said, pointing to the Rockefeller section.

New York Rediscount Rate Is Not Changed

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank made no change today in its rediscount rate of 5 per cent.

in the automobile field. The reason for this, it says, is the rivalry of cities ambitious to be known as aviation centers, resulting in attractive offers to manufacturers from many parts of the country. Among cities competing for recognition as centers for aircraft production or operation the chamber names Boston, Bridgeport, New York, Baltimore, Miami, Scranton, Pittsburgh, Rochester, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Dallas, Houston, Los Angeles and Seattle.

Rum Stamp Charge Holds Two for Trial

One Man Released, Another and Women Detained in K Street Raid.

Charged with possessing fraudulent revenue stamps, Jack Brown, William Maragos and Miss Mary Jones, who were arrested at 1110 K street northwest, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Neesham C. Tunnage yesterday. The charge against Brown was dismissed, and the case against the others was continued so that a Government stamp expert may be called upon to testify.

The three were arrested December 28 by Sgt. O. J. Letterman and Detective William J. Burke. The woman and Maragos were found transferring liquor from a keg to bottles, and stamps were found on a table beside them, while other bottles of liquor had already been stamped, the police declared. Brown, according to the police, was in an adjoining room.

Bertrand Emerson, Jr., after the case had been dismissed against Brown, requested that a Government expert be called so that it might be determined whether or not the stamps used were similar to stamps in use by the Government. The three face trial in Police Court on liquor charges which grew out of the raid.

Sentimental State Senate Hits Plan on Civil Marriage

Maryland's Romantic Legislators Oppose Bill to Empower Justices of the Peace to Perform Ceremony; Say
Wedding Should Be More Solemn Affair.

Special to The Washington Post.
Annapolis, March 7.—A sentimental feeling that a magistrate's office is not the proper setting for a marriage ceremony was given today by several senators as their reason for opposing the civil marriage bill now before the senate judicial proceedings committee.

The bill, which would add justices of the peace of the State to the list of those legally qualified to perform marriages, was introduced in the house of delegates by Delegate Seymour Phillips, of the Fourth city district. It was passed by that body on February 18 and was referred to the senate committee the following day.

Senator Landale G. Sasser, of Prince Georges County, chairman of the senate committee, has set March 21 for a hearing of the proponents of the measure. He declared today that this was the first hearing arranged on a house bill and his reason for setting so far off was to give the committee time to clean up the senate measure now pending before it.

Asked to state his position on the measure, Senator Sasser replied that he was "coasting."

At the same time a unofficial tabulation of the personnel of the judicial proceedings committee, as made by a senator opposed to the measure, indicated a vote that would defeat the measure in the committee.

The same senator said that he believed at least fifteen senators were opposed to the bill. This is a majority. Senator Walter J. Mitchell, of Charles County, Democratic floor leader, when asked how he stood on the measure, said: "For sentimental reasons I think I am going to vote against it. I think some religious ceremony is appropriate to marriage. I don't think people should be able to run down the street and get married at a magistrate's office."

Senator S. Scott Beck, of Kent County, when asked his position, replied: "I am against it."

He also said he did not think a magistrate's office the proper place for a ceremony.

Senate President David G. McIntosh, Jr., of Baltimore County, stated that he was in favor of the bill. He pointed out that the number of clergymen who had gone on record as favoring it convinced him that it deserved consideration.

"The argument that as the State divorces couples it should make some provision for the remarriage of divorced persons is a hard one to answer," he added.

"I am absolutely opposed to it," Senator Cecil G. Squier, of Cecil County, replied when asked his position. "My reason is that there is no need for anything of the kind. It is likely to have a very disturbing and disrupting effect on relations of society generally."

Senator Dudley G. Roe, of Queen Anne's County, also stated that he was opposed to the bill.

WHITE HOUSE YEARS IN COOLIDGE ARTICLE

the land. To this he had replied that he had done nothing and so did not merit the title, which would go to some boy who had distinguished himself through his own activities.

Haines Presidency.
"We do not know what might have happened to him under other circumstances, but if I had not been President he would not have been a blaster on his toe which resulted in blood poisoning playing lawn tennis in the south grounds."

"In his suffering he was asking me to make him well. I could not."

"When he went, the power and glory of the Presidency went with him."

"The ways of Providence are often beyond our understanding. It seemed to me that the world had need of the work that it was doing for him."

"I do not know why such a price was exacted for occupying the White House."

The first article described Mr. Coolidge's entrance into the White House on the death of President Harding and some of his early experiences as President. In subsequent chapters, after reviewing his years in the White House, he tells of his boyhood and young manhood.

The work of Mr. Long, is really an autobiography.

Mr. Long described today how he went about persuading Mr. Coolidge to write the story.

"When he made the announcement that he did not choose to run again in the summer of 1927," Mr. Long said, "I immediately wrote him a letter in the Black Hills—suggesting that he write for us. As soon as he was back in Washington I went down to see him."

"I got no direct answer. Mr. Coolidge had no confidence in his ability to write."

"Then I decided to keep after him just as a reporter keeps after a man on a story. Every 60 days from that time I went down to Washington to see him. Still I could not get him to write."

"Finally I was called to the White House on Saturday, January 25—about six weeks ago. I arrived there at 10 o'clock in the morning. When I went in the President looked at me, grinned and said:

"Well, you're an early bird."

"Mr. President," I replied, "beneath this business suit beats the heart of a Canadian mounted policeman. I've come down to get my man."

"After a few more words Mr. Coolidge handed me a sheaf of papers. 'I've got something done,' he said. 'I don't know how good it is, but here it is.'"

"He then had me go into the Cabinet room to read it. But before I went in he said, 'If you're not pleased with it, none of the things we've said need bind you.'"

Mr. Long said that Mr. Coolidge wrote his story first in long hand, later dictating from the copy to a stenographer.

Only Mr. Coolidge, Everett Sanders, who was the President's secretary, and he himself knows what Cosmopolitan is paying for the series.

Northampton, Mass., March 7 (A.P.)—For the first time since his return from Washington, Calvin Coolidge was able to leave his home today without facing a battery of cameras and a bombardment of questions by newspaper men.

He was at last a private citizen in fact as well as in name.

After a good night's sleep, Mr. Coolidge arose at 7:30 this morning. Ten minutes later he came out on the front porch of his Massachusetts street home in his shirt sleeves to get the morning newspapers. He let "Tiny Tim," the Coolidge chow dog, out for a bit of exercise and then stood on the porch for several minutes inhaling the fresh air. He then whistled to the dog and went in to breakfast.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Mr. Coolidge was driven to his old office where he again passed several hours at work.

GAMBLER CHARGED WITH WALSH SLAYING

was not aware that gambling was going on in the Gaylord suite, if it was. From his employer he said he learned fashionable winter visitors and others apparently made it their rendezvous.

While police here were looking for Eddie Wilson as the central link in their chain of evidence, authorities in New York were on another tack. They indicated that the search for Hyman Giller, under indictment in the Rothstein murder, was connected with the slaying. The theory was Walsh had talked too much about his association with Rothstein and that friends of Giller feared he might get wind of Giller's whereabouts and reveal it inadvertently.

Inez Norton, show girl friend of Rothstein, who figured in a contest over his will, was in Miami on hour before the killing last night, but had checked out, telling the clerk at another hotel that she was going to Jacksonville. She was alone.

Rothstein was fatally shot in New York at the Central Hotel room, and several of his former associates have been indicted. He was reputedly a millionaire, and the killing has been investigated without apparent solution.

Police Bare Death Plot.
New York, March 7 (A.P.)—Police announced today that Thomas J. Walsh, shot to death in Coral Gables Hotel last night, was marked for death before he left New York for the South.

They were tipped off three weeks ago, they said, that Walsh was being trailed by gunmen who intended to entice him to the Rothmere Building, former headquarters of Arnold Rothstein, and kill him with a machine gun for "talking too much" about the slaying of Rothstein, for whom he formerly acted as bodyguard.

The tip, coming to police anonymously by telephone, was to the effect that a machine gun was hidden in a furnished automobile in front of the Rothmere Building. When Walsh was lured by he was to be shot down. Detectives shadowed the building for several days, but nothing happened. The gunmen apparently having been warned that the police had been tipped.

After Rothstein was shot to death in a manner similar to the killing of Walsh, the latter was questioned but was released. He told police that he had been Rothstein's bodyguard at $100 a week, but had quit two months before because Rothstein was "too cheap."

New York detectives returning from the slaying-stirring fight in Florida reported that Walsh had been seen there and preparations were under way to bring him back for further questioning. The detectives said Walsh was reported to have been boasting in the South of his Rothstein connections.

ANOTHER CONVICTED IN ARMY LIQUOR RING

Sergt. Manning Sentenced to Six Months at Hard
Labor and Fined.

FOURTH MAN ACQUITTED

Special to The Washington Post.
Baltimore, Md., March 7.—Court-martial proceedings against four enlisted men at Fort George G. Meade, formerly Fort Leonard Wood, accused in the "run ring," were brought to a close today with the conviction of a third man and the acquittal of the fourth.
Sergt. William R. Manning was sentenced to six months at hard labor and to forfeit $14 a month of his pay as a private, to which grade he was reduced. The charge against him was "introducing liquor onto the military reservation."
Sergt. Joseph Kent was acquitted for lack of evidence. His trial followed

Manning's. The latter had assumed all responsibility for the acts laid to Kent. The trials were conducted by order of Col. Oliver S. Eckridge, post commander, after objection had been made by counsel for the accused to their being tried by the court which on Wednesday convicted the two other men accused of being in the "liquor ring." The objection was made on the ground that the first court had formed an opinion.

The others were Sergt. Herbert L. Long, Company D, Seventeenth Tank Battalion, and Cook James W. Musgrave, also of that company. The former was reduced to private and sentenced to two months at hard labor, with a loss of $14 a month in pay during that period, while Musgrave was discharged as cook and given six months' confinement at hard labor and a loss of $14 a month during that time.

The cases grew out of an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Private Samuel A. Forcey on February 8 of acute alcoholism.
Girl, 6 Years Old, Hurt by Auto.
Vivian Berry, 6 years old, of 1427 F street northeast, was injured yesterday morning when an automobile, said by police to have been operated by John Flaherty, of 1306 B street southeast, struck her at Fifteenth street and Tennessee avenue northeast. She was treated at Casualty Hospital by Dr. Louis Jimal for facial abrasions and a fractured collar bone.

Daughter Is Slain By Suicide's Widow

Woman Wounds Second Girl, Then Fails in an Attempt to Kill Herself.

St. Louis, March 7 (A.P.).—Crazed, presumably by worry over the suicide of her husband, Mrs. Lena Hawkins, 42 shot and killed one of her daughters and wounded another while they slept in their home here this morning. She then turned the revolver on herself, but all the bullets had been discharged.

The daughter slain was Winifred Krage, 17 years old. The other girl, Bernice Krage, 15 years old, was wounded in the left arm. Both were daughters by a previous marriage. Police were notified and Mrs. Hawkins was taken to the City Hospital for observation. Officers were unable to obtain a coherent story from her. Mrs. Hawkins' husband, Walter, a contractor, killed himself with a shotgun in the kitchen of the home last November 12. His widow told officers he killed himself because of dependency over financial reverses.

MISS EUROPE

It is an ambitious task to pick out any one girl and say that she is the queen of all Europe's beauties. But that's what Paris judges did in the case of Miss Elizabeth Simon, 19, the daughter of the Chief Medical Inspector of Budapest. Miss Simon previously won the title of "Miss Hungary" for her victory at Paris.

U. S. Asks Germany To Clear Forgeries

Embassy to Press Case of Orloff to Prevent Such Attempts in Future.

Berlin, March 7 (A.P.).—The American Embassy has been instructed by Washington to interest itself officially in the Vladimir Orloff forgery case, as United States Senator Borah is deeply concerned to have the whole matter cleared up.

The embassy informed the German foreign office accordingly and expressed hope that the investigation would lead to clear proofs, not only to reveal present forgeries, but also to prevent similar machinations in the future.
Orloff, a Russian exile, was arrested on charges in connection with the forging and sale of various documents, particularly with reference to spurious papers which sought to show that United States Senators Borah and Norris had accepted bribes from the Soviet Russian government.

Dispute on Tariff Near Settlement

French More Conciliatory
in Latest Note to U. S. on Appraisements.

Paris, March 7 (A.P.).—The Franco-American contention over the manner of fixing values on French goods imported into the United States tonight seemed more likely of settlement. The French government today handed to the American Embassy a reply to the latest American note, in which a more conciliatory attitude was taken.
Matters had been in suspense for several months following the rejection by the American Government of the French proposal to employ French experts to fix the costs of French goods going into the United States. The arbitrary appraisals made by the customs in consequence of the withdrawal of Treasury agents who previously had investigated costs in France were the subject of strong protests, but no other suggestion was made than the use of French experts in the place of the Treasury agents. The French were inclined also to think that the Americans had failed to accord proper reciprocity for French tariff concessions. The new French note, according to the best information, takes a different attitude and improves the chances of settlement.

Mexican officials said the man evidently had been killed on the American side of the boundary and the body thrown over the international fence. Thompson's body is being held by Sonoran officials.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS OF YESTERDAY

Stocks Display Frequent Shifts of Speculative Sentiment; Radio Rallies.

CALL FUNDS 12 PER CENT

New York, March 7 (A.P.).—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment characterized today's stock market, which closed with an outburst of strength in the face of another flurry in call money from 10 to 12 per cent. Sales showed a marked reduction in volume, indicating that many traders, large and small, apparently have withdrawn from the market until the credit stringency has passed.

Total sales of 3,833,480 shares were among the smallest of any full session this year. The weekly Federal Reserve statement on brokers' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed a gain of $140,000,000, much larger than expected, bringing the total on March 7 to $5,647,000,000, or just $22,000,000 below the high record established on February 6. This compared with a total of $3,990,000,000 on March 1, 1928.

The detailed figures showed an increase of $27,000,000 by banks for their own account, an increase of $14,000,000 for the account of out-of-town banks, and an increase of $99,000,000 for the account of others. No change was made today in the 5 per cent. discount rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Steel Input Output Gains.

One of the most interesting business developments of the day was the publication of the February report on steel input production showing a total of 275,000 tons, or about 10 per cent. over the corresponding month a year ago. Excellent 1928 earnings reports were published by the United Carbide, Studer and a number of other smaller corporations. The United States rubber report, released for morning newspapers, showed a loss of slightly more than $10,000,000 last year, but this had been generally anticipated.

Col. Robert W. Stewart lost his fight against the Rockefeller interests in the battle for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and William Childs apparently was defeated in his campaign to retain control of the restaurant chain bearing his name. Wall Street was not surprised at either result, and many brokers frankly expressed pleasure that the controversies had been settled as the many charges and counter-charges were regarded as disturbing market factors.

Radio issues were the features of today's market, with the Standard Oil stock advancing 18 points yesterday, rallied 37 today to 407, or just 61 points below the year's high of 468.

Adams Express Rebounds.

Adams Express, which broke 45 points yesterday on one sale, rebounded 25 points on a turnover of less than 1,000 shares. Western Union was marked up more than 10 points to a new high record at 213, but lost part of its gain. Colorado Fuel advanced 5 points to a new high.

Johns-Manville broke 11 points to 183, on selling, presumably influenced by the death of Theodore F. Mereske, head of the company, but recovered more than half its loss. United States Steel common rallied from a low of 181 to 186, and closed at 187, up 1 1/2 points. Anaconda closed 2 1/2 points higher at 156, after having sold down to 154.

The Associated Press indices showed moderate gains for the 50 leading industries, 20 rails and 20 public utilities.

High money rates caused a moderate recession in the leading foreign exchanges, with the Canadian dollar and the Spanish peseta sinking to new low levels from the year. Sterling cables were down to $4.85, or near the "cold import" point.

Cotton and wheat futures were heavily bought, the former advancing about 1/4 cent and the latter a cent or more a bushel. Coffee futures dropped 14 to 21 points and sugar prices held fairly steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 7 (A.P.).—Abrupt reversal of temperature, with widespread sales and a drop in demand, caused a decided upward trend in the grain market. The wheat market was a quick lift to a new high, but was held by a definite announcement that Congress would meet in session on March 10, to consider farm relief, other bills as well as wheat advanced, but there has been the case for some time.

Close trading on wheat was firm, with a 1/2 cent higher. Corn advanced 1/4 cent, and oats 1/2 cent, but the market was unchanged to a rise of 2 1/2.

Fractionally the wheat and corn markets showed a decided upward trend, and there were indications that the general buying which was active on Monday, was being followed by a considerable amount of wheat futures deliveries. Meanwhile, the market was held by a definite announcement that Congress would meet in session on March 10, to consider farm relief, other bills as well as wheat advanced, but there has been the case for some time.

A. A. U. LINEUP HERE FRIENDLY WITH SOUTH ATLANTIC

No Hostility, Assertion of Identity

Invites Officials to Attend Next Meeting at Post.

Clubs Playing Fair, He Says; Admires S. A. Officers.

ACTUATED by a desire to dispel a belief that a hostile feeling existed between South Atlantic A. A. U. officials and local amateur clubs seeking a District of Columbia association separate of the South Atlantic, H. J. Jendral, executive secretary of the City Club and temporary chairman of the local A. A. U. movement, yesterday stated in a letter to The Post that there was no intention of Washington amateur clubs to bring about any friction. Mr. Jendral, one of the most energetic workers in the movement to have Washington control of Washington amateur athletics, expressed the wish that an invitation be extended to officers of the South Atlantic to be present at the next meeting of the local organization so that they may "feel we are playing fair."

His letter follows: "My attention has been invited to the fact that a controversy has been stirred up by the movement to have Washington control of Washington amateur athletics, expressed the wish that an invitation be extended to officers of the South Atlantic to be present at the next meeting of the local organization so that they may 'feel we are playing fair.'"

"There never was any intention either on the part of my colleagues or myself, representing the various amateur organizations of Washington, to bring about any friction or any controversy whatsoever with the officers of the South Atlantic Division. I am personally a great admirer of the South Atlantic Division. It seems to me largely correct that certain amateur clubs have been carried in the Washington papers, such as 'Washington Amateur Organization' and 'Washington Amateur Athletic Union.' The South Atlantic Division is a Division of the South Atlantic Division."

Meeting Held at Post Was Friendly to South Atlantic. "There never was any intention either on the part of my colleagues or myself, representing the various amateur organizations of Washington, to bring about any friction or any controversy whatsoever with the officers of the South Atlantic Division. I am personally a great admirer of the South Atlantic Division. It seems to me largely correct that certain amateur clubs have been carried in the Washington papers, such as 'Washington Amateur Organization' and 'Washington Amateur Athletic Union.' The South Atlantic Division is a Division of the South Atlantic Division."

The chief point in question was that Washington, being the Capital City, should have a department of its own, offered by the various amateur organizations of Washington, to bring about any friction or any controversy whatsoever with the officers of the South Atlantic Division. I am personally a great admirer of the South Atlantic Division. It seems to me largely correct that certain amateur clubs have been carried in the Washington papers, such as 'Washington Amateur Organization' and 'Washington Amateur Athletic Union.' The South Atlantic Division is a Division of the South Atlantic Division."

Wants South Atlantic to Feel Capital is Playing Fair.

It is quite natural that the officers of the South Atlantic Division, from the articles published in the papers of their cities and in some that I have seen here, would be inclined to feel that they were being called in question by the South Atlantic Division. I am personally a great admirer of the South Atlantic Division. It seems to me largely correct that certain amateur clubs have been carried in the Washington papers, such as 'Washington Amateur Organization' and 'Washington Amateur Athletic Union.' The South Atlantic Division is a Division of the South Atlantic Division."

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT OF KINGS

BOMBARDMENT. Those lawn mowers and leopards at Miami are in for rough sledding this afternoon. The Seagrass boys, Canadian sharpshooters, are going to shoot from the Tetra Glass and Edisto and indications point to the wounding of a flock of geese. TETRA GLASS was beaten by Eloise last time out, but you must remember, lads, that there are days and days, and today a word to the wise is just the word in the season of the party. As for EDISTO both barrels will be fired. No mistakes will be made today. The other events do not look so good. VOLANTE may leave the barrier on time and waits in the pen. CLARIE AMOUR is a doubtful starter. If she remains in the barrier for the second heat ROSETTA STONE should earn brackets. SENATOR SETH may be good enough to carry on in the fifth. Pass up the sixth.

ILLINOIS TRACKS LIMITED To 10 Days Under Bill Springfield, Ill., March 7 (A.P.). Horse racing was under fire in Illinois again today. The latest of many threats to curb the sport in this State came from Representative Thomas J. O'Connor, of Chicago, who has introduced a bill which would cut the season from 182 days to 60—an average of ten days for each of the major tracks now in existence in the State. Without any debate, the house committee on license and miscellany recommended the bill for passage yesterday.

VICTORY SEEN J. C. C. BOXERS FOR C. U. RING FACE THREE SQUAD MATCHES

Team Has Hopes of Beating N.Y.U. Tomorrow in Finale.

TRAINED down to a fine edge and determined to keep their record clear of defeat, the Catholic University boxers today will depart at 8 o'clock for New York City, where tomorrow they will engage the New York University ringmen in a seven-bout match. Director of Athletics Jack McCallie and Coach Teddy Mitchell will be in charge of the party.

New York U. boxing team has not started the sporting world this year to the amazing degree that have the Catholic and track teams. Catholic seems to have at least an even chance for victory.

Jack McCallie, heavyweight; Frank Fullman, middleweight; and Mickey Maguire, lightweight, carry the weight of the local hopes for winning. Maguire, 172 lbs., is a powerful young man, a former champion of the Catholic University, and a former champion of the Catholic University.

Tomorrow's match with New York University most likely will be the last of the Catholic University's boxing season. The Catholic University team, Manhattan College, with which Brookland authorities have been negotiating for an engagement, yesterday won a victory over the Jack McCallie's boxing team.

CAVALIERS-ATTENTION. The manager of the Cavaliers is requested to phone the manager of the Cardinals at Columbia 7764 as soon as possible in regard to a scheduled game.

3 PERSONS HABBED AS RUM RUNNERS UNDER JONES LAW

Police Believe Small Number of Arrests Is Indication of Real Scare.

CONVOY AUTOMOBILES ELUDE RAIDING SQUAD

Accused Trio Held Under Big Bonds for Trial; Fewer "Drunks" in Court.

Three persons were arrested yesterday under provision of the Jones act, making a total of six persons arrested in the District and charged with violating the new enforcement provision since President Coolidge affixed his signature to the bill and made it a law last Saturday.

While the day's haul was the largest of any day since the law became effective, and police took the bill in liquor law violations as an indication that bootleggers are scared to death, the police yesterday took advantage of the bill in violations and disposed of ten cases booked under the old law and five cases of simple intoxication.

Police Court officials stated yesterday that the five cases of intoxication that came up for consideration was the smallest number on record for a single day. They pointed out that prior to the enactment of the Jones act there were an average of twenty persons to face the court on each day charged with intoxication and that an average of ten persons were charged daily with sale or possession of the illicit beverage.

All Held Under Bond.

The three persons arrested yesterday and booked as Jones law violators were: George Brew, 23 years of age, of 934 N. York avenue northwest; Lewis Jackson, 38 years old, colored, of 123 Reeves street northwest; and Mrs. Willie Moore, colored, 30 years old, of 1725 Fifth street northwest.

Brew was held under $5,000 bail on charges of transporting and possessing whisky. Jackson was held under $4,500 bond on charges of sale, transportation and possession. The Moore woman was held on $4,500 bond on charges of selling and possession.

Brew was arrested yesterday morning by Sgt. George M. Little and his flying squad, after he is alleged to have abandoned his automobile following a mile chase on Benning road northeast. The police charged that he fired several shots at Brew and his two-car convoy. Both convoy machines were their getaway.

Will Prosecute Convoy.

As a result of the report of Sgt. Little and his flying squad, Assistant Attorneys David A. Hart and J. W. Camilleri declared that when captured, occupants of convoy automobiles would be prosecuted as aiders and abettors of a felony.

Jackson was arrested yesterday afternoon on North Capitol street by Police Officer J. T. Johnson, both of the Second Precinct, making a total of six persons arrested under the old law. Sarah Moore, 26 years old, of 1118 Twenty-first street northwest, was ordered to pay $100 fine or serve 30 days in jail for a charge of possessing a half-pint of whisky.

Fines of $500 each, with a 30-day jail alternative, were given Alfred Landrum and Mary E. Holland, of Naylor court northwest, who were arrested several days ago by Second Precinct police on charges of transporting and possessing liquor. Transporting and possessing small quantities of liquor were charged on Henry Johnson, 24 years old, $400 or 100 days. Clarence Morton, 27, of 445 Washington street northwest, was ordered to serve 60 days in jail or pay a $200 fine or serve 60 days additional for possessing.

Five Physicians Fined.

Five physicians pleaded guilty to charges of prescribing more than a pint of liquor in ten days, issuing prescriptions without making a physical examination and falsifying prescription records, before Judge Isaac R. Hitt, in Police Court. Each was fined $200.

They are Pinyon L. Cornish, 1607 Irving street northwest; William A. Goodloe, 1915 Seventh street northwest; Conley Cook, 707 Rhode Island street northwest; Isaac R. Horn, 1702 M street northwest; and Samuel L. Starke, 433 M street northwest.

The five were arrested by prohibition agents early in January. An agent declared that he visited each of the doctors and requested a prescription for liquor to "put a little life" in a card game he was having at his home.

Five Charged as Drunk.

Only five persons were arraigned in Police Court yesterday on intoxication charges, and police took this as an indication that liquor is scarce and difficult to get. Police said the number was one of, not the smallest, ever brought into the court in one day on similar charges.

Bryan J. Donovan, 42 years old, was "tied" $100, with the alternative of 30 days in jail. He went to jail. Donovan, said to be an "old offender," broke through police lines at the fire works display Wednesday night and attempted to attach himself to a skyrocket. Park Policeman A. J. Bickford testified. The other four offenders drew small fines.

Community Body Aid Entertains Children

Mrs. M. W. Davis, secretary of the Southeast Community Center, last night entertained the 38 boys and girls at the Children's Receiving Home, 816 Potomac avenue southeast, with an illustrated educational talk and stories.

The entertainment was one of a series arranged by E. S. Arnold, superintendent of the home through Mrs. Morgan Otterback, of the Parent-Teacher Juvenile Protective Association.

Thomsen, Willard Leeth, Willard R. Burton, Miss Marie Zandonini, Fenner Grimes, Edward N. Dingley, Jr., E. D. Redington, Mrs. Edward N. Dingley, Jr., K. D. Wilson, William M. SANITARIUM STUDY GROUP IS SELECTED

Four District Officials Will Analyze Problems Facing Tuberculosis Care.

The District Commissioners yesterday named a committee of four District officials to study problems likely to be faced in the establishment of a tubercular sanitarium and school for District children, authorized by a recent act of Congress.

The committee includes Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of public health; Maj. L. E. Atkins, Assistant Engineer-Commissioner; J. L. Harris, municipal architect; and George Wilson, director of public welfare.

The board was named pursuant to an item in the second deficiency bill, which provided an appropriation of $1,800 for the best method of the "care, treatment and education" of Washington's tubercular children in connection with the building of a hospital for this purpose.

Relation of the present health schools for white and colored students to the proposed hospital and whether the new hospital shall include classrooms for education of the tubercular children and how the children shall be separated, according to their age, sex and color, are some of the problems to be reported on by the investigating committee.

The Board of Education has gone on record as favoring supervised education for tubercular children on a 24-hour period. Whether the children can best be helped by quarantining them in the new hospital, together with classroom education, or whether the health schools now in use will be continued with the regular school for members of the proposed hospital would present the ideal plan, will be decided upon by the committee.

Mrs. Willebrandt Will Hold Position Expected to Have Influence in Dry Work Direction by Bureau Shift.

It was said yesterday at the Department of Justice, that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition prosecutions, will remain at the Department in the administration of President Hoover.

Mrs. Willebrandt attracted much attention during the Presidential campaign and was subject to sharp criticism by members of Congress because of her campaign activities. While it was generally understood that she would remain as an Assistant Attorney General, no definite announcement had been forthcoming.

Under the proposed plan to transfer the Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice, Mrs. Willebrandt's duties would be increased. Instead of having the sole prosecution of prohibition cases under her direction, she would have an active part in directing the work of the bureau.

Policeman Loses Coat Arresting Veteran, 71

While arresting James Stewart Kane, 71-year-old veteran of the United States Soldiers Home, yesterday, Policeman R. Nails, of the Tenth Precinct, practically lost his overcoat, the garment being badly ripped.

As a result, Kane was at the Tenth Precinct Station last night waiting for someone to bail him out in the sum of $60. Opposite his name on the precinct blotter appear charges of drunk, disorderly, assault and breaking glass. Nails alleges that Kane broke a bottle in the street.

Inaugural Hostess Tells $4,000 Theft

California Girl Reports the Loss of Jewels From Her Hotel Room.

Miss Peggy Hamilton, fashion editor of a Los Angeles newspaper, and organizer of film fashion reviews, who was official hostess on the California Hoover-Curtis inaugural special train to Washington, yesterday reported the theft of jewelry and clothing valued at $3,000 to $4,000 from her room in a Washington hotel, after search of the room failed to disclose a suitcase containing the missing articles.

She told Detective Sergeants Clarence Tully and H. A. Cole, who investigated, that the suitcase disappeared shortly after her arrival at the hotel Sunday morning, they reported.

The articles were insured against theft, she said, according to police. A shawl which she brought from California and presented to Mrs. Hoover Tuesday at the White House, was in another suitcase, she declared.

Benefit Planned for Savoy Players Musical-Comedy Company to Close This Week After 16-Week Run.

SHOW FOLK WILL ATTEND

"On, Kay," the play scheduled to be presented next week by the Savoy Musical Comedy Company, will not be offered to the public, as the company is closing tomorrow night. The final performance will be "Little Nellie Kelly."

In connection with the closing of the show, it was announced that a benefit performance will be staged tonight after the regular show for members of the company chorus. All proceeds will be turned over to the youngsters in order to provide them with transportation back to New York.

The frolic will start at 11:30 o'clock with a vaudeville sketch, "The Mutual Man," featuring Robert and Ethel M. Parker and Roan Snowden. Following this "Little Nellie Kelly" will be the main attraction.

Prices for the performance are $1 for orchestra and mezzanine seats, while box seats are $2 and boxes seating six are $10.

The company opened sixteen weeks ago at the Belasco Theatre. Tomorrow a week ago the show moved from the Belasco to Keith's.

Mellon to Retain Same Office Staff

The same staff that served Andrew W. Mellon in the Treasury Department yesterday under President Hoover, will continue under the Hoover regime, it was learned yesterday.

At the same time it was indicated that Mr. Mellon, who is the first Secretary of the Treasury to hold office under three Presidents, is not perturbed over the Senate's attitude toward him, the high point of which came Tuesday when Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, introduced and the Senate adopted a resolution to investigate his alleged right to remain in the office without additional Senate confirmation.

President Hoover did not ask the Senate to confirm Mr. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Mellon has been in the Cabinet eight years, having been given the Treasury portfolio in the Harding Cabinet. He was continued in the cabinet by President Coolidge. His name was first presented to the Senate for confirmation by President Harding and he has not been reconfirmed since.

Hyde Third in Cabinet Honored by W. C. T. U.

The prohibition leanings of Arthur M. Hyde, new Secretary of Agriculture, are plainly evident, for he is one of three men who have served in the Cabinet who have been able to write "Hon. Mem. W. C. T. U." after their names.

The other Cabinet officers who have held honorary membership in the women's organization are Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, and the late William Jennings Bryan, who served as Secretary of State in the Wilson Cabinet. The Missouri W. C. T. U. conferred the honorary membership on Mr. Hyde.

DIVISION VETERANS HONOR SUMMERALL

Gold Shoulder Stars Are Gift of Famous First's Unit, Embracing District.

GENERAL PRAISES DONORS

Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, United States Army, the sixth officer in American history to hold the rank of full general in the United States Army, and the commander of the First Division of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War, was honored by presentation of a set of full general's gold shoulder stars to the division headquarters of the First Division Association last night at the Colonial Hotel.

Brig. Gen. Frank Parker, of the War Department general staff, in making the presentation, declared that Gen. Summerall now, as in the campaigns in France, is the emblem of the 50,000 men who fought under the First Division colors at Solonnois, St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne offensives.

Gen. Summerall stood at attention while Brig. Gen. Parker fastened the epaulettes of four stars to the shoulders of his civilian clothing. "The expression of regard," Gen. Summerall said, "means more to me than any other honor I could receive and is a reward which comes solely through the services of the members of the First Division."

Gen. Summerall is national president of the association. Maj. Gen. Parker, retiring president of the District Chapter, is to be succeeded by Maj. Courtney S. Ford, of the Army, who returned from the war in the 308th Central Postal Directory and the post was brought into being. Col. E. Lester Jones was the first postmaster.

A poem, entitled "Ye Who Have Faith," was sung for the first time at the meeting last night. The poem was written by the late Captain of the United States Marine Corps, Herman Fakler, who died in the war.

Gun-Mount Machinery Bids Sought by Navy

The Navy Department is preparing to call for bids on new machinery for the construction of gun mounts for the fifteen recently authorized cruisers to be built there, and which will cost $2,000,000.

Additional equipment for this work will include a sand blast and cleaning shed, a machine shop, a paint shop, a new machine to care for different work in connection with gun design for the new cruisers.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, expects to pass on the specifications within a few days. Installation of the new machinery will increase the capacity of the Washington Navy Yard.

After covering 3,080 miles in 25½ hours' flying time, Capt. Ross W. Hoyt, pilot of the Question Mark, refueling yesterday at Bolling Field at 6 o'clock last night in the face of the gale which had raged all day.

He had completed his mission of delivering mail to Capt. Ira C. Eaker, chief pilot of the Question Mark, at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., to be turned by him to Panama. Capt. Hoyt left Bolling Field at 4:25 o'clock Wednesday morning and arrived at Kelly Field at 6:30 o'clock the same evening.

On the trip he heaped up Greenleaf Kelly Field at 3:40 o'clock yesterday morning, he battled high winds throughout the entire 1,540 miles.

Mrs. Anna Thelma Satterfield, of Suitland, Md., entered suit for $5,000 damages in the District Supreme Court yesterday against Furrus W. Harrington, building contractor with offices at 210 A street northeast, as the result of a traffic mishap on last January 12.

Through her counsel, Godfrey L. Munter, Mrs. Satterfield complains that Harrington, operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor, ran into an automobile driven by her husband, in which she was a passenger, on Pennsylvania avenue southeast, turning the latter vehicle over and pinning her beneath it. She was seriously injured as a result, she stated.

NEED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE STRESSED BY LEGION LEADERS

George Washington District Post, Organization Cradle, Observes Tenth Year.

HOOVER AND PERSHING SEND UNIT GREETINGS

Paul V. McNutt, Commander, Writes to State, Also, Aims for Americanization.

The need for national defense was stressed at the celebration last night of the tenth anniversary of George Washington Post No. 1, of the American Legion, in the Daughters of the American Revolution Continental Hall.

Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, former department commander of the Legion, called the provision in the constitution that provides for "common defense" the most important and vital provision in the document.

"What you pay for the Navy, the Army and to the veterans is national insurance and if it were not for this, personal insurance would not be worth anything," he said.

McNutt Sends Greetings.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander, declared "National defense must be maintained on a basis adequate to protect and preserve this Government and its institutions," in a letter of greeting read before the audience of 300 persons.

Col. McNutt also stressed the other side of the medal. He pointed out, after reading by Capt. Paul V. Collins, commander of the George Washington Post, "Service to disabled veterans must be improved," in the letter read.

"Adequate provision must be made for the war orphans and the development of a greater junior national athletic program, more universal public education and more extensive public community service."

Hoover and Pershing Write.

President Herbert Hoover and Gen. John J. Pershing also sent their greetings to the George Washington Post, out of which the American Legion was born.

President Hoover extended his greetings in a note signed by his secretary, Mr. Clegg. Gen. Pershing's letter, dated from Paris, said the legion "is building all sections of our country together in the American Legion."
